Tastech Z 50 Webcam Driver

In English. (Linux) drivers. Now I have nothing to view, is there any way to get it working again? Please help, I've searched everywhere. Heres what I think happend to me: I had a Zen (an original) and then a DX lens sent to me (67mm). A few weeks later the lens stopped working. Olli Lassanen. Am I missing something? Btw, I am now in the same plight as you; I have a D5100 with a retro-style Rode VideoMic mic and no way to send sound to my computer. I've tried to download some drivers with no luck: uninstalled, re-installed and still no luck. I would just like to know if there is a way around this or if I'll have to buy a mic. I have no clue how to fix this. If this was intentional, I'll take them off. Tastech Z 50 Webcam Driver | eBay As long as you can get a mic you can get it to work, with USB and through the sound card. The mic for that combination is the micsense 420, which is a usb d-input mic. Let me know if you need a mic with that channel and i'll see if i can find one. If you tried that, see if you have a driver for the webcam. I think I'm going to try and download the last driver you gave me and see if I can get it to work for you. This was how it went for me, it went back to a black screen and mouse then when I turned off. It would not go back to normal to the way it was before. The resolution and the color of the screen is normal, the only problem is that the web cam was not working. Is there any way to recover the software for the webcam? Oh, one more question, the software is not asking me to register is that normal? Please help I have to upload a video as soon as possible. Thanks In advance. It may be that the drivers are not compatible with the version of Windows that you are running. You might try uninstalling and reinstalling the driver. However, see our FAQs page for other questions that may come up. You could try doing a search on the product and let us know what you find. In looking up your model 595f342e71
