"...and at long last, the yearning described in the song reaches its climax" In the ruins of the 28th century, you awaken. Lying on a bed of ash, you are unsure whether this is just a dream. Your senses fail, you cannot breathe and cannot move. Your nose sniffs some pungent odor and your tongue tastes something like raspberry jam. Your stomach grumbles as you realize you are hungry. You rub your eyes, and you find you cannot move your body: your body is paralyzed. You open your eyes and hear chimes and the sound of wings beating. You feel the air become lighter, and see a golden cube of light appear next to you. You let out a squeak of fright, but the cube of light does not harm you. The light becomes dimmer and darker and disappears as a woman in a golden dress walks towards you. You realize she is beautiful, but try not to stare. She smiles at you and says, "Hello, I'm your nurse for today. Please don't be frightened, I'm just going to take your blood pressure". The woman then offers you a cup of juice and a spoon to eat, but you feel too weak to eat anything. The woman seems very concerned as she watches your blood pressure and monitors your heartbeat with the machine. She examines you further by passing her hand over you and shining a light on you before she tells you that you are fine. You feel paralyzed, your body lying on a table with you unable to move. You try to move, but still feel the paralysis. You look around and see that you are in a small room with no furniture and no windows. A nurse sits in front of you with a clipboard, ready to take your blood pressure again. But as you look at her, you realize she is wearing a black cape, a cross pendant around her neck and a set of black nylons under her skirt. You become frustrated, your body again lying on the table, and you try to stand up. But you find that you are uncoordinated and wobbly. The nurse smiles at you, "You don't want to get violent, do you?" You don't think that it is a good time to be having a violent argument with a nurse, so you stare at her in silence. The nurse looks even more imposing, c9d1549cdd

(2012) Sebastien Loeb Rally EVO (2012) US September 28, 2012 Ares Racing Hoboken, NJ, USA Lotus Evora/WRC Car Manufacturers Lotus Pit Board Gallery Notes Sebastien Loeb Rally EVO Ares Racing Hoboken, NJ, USA Date/Time/Room September 28, 2012 10:00AM Sebastien is looking forward to his first drive of the 2012 season in the Lotus Evora he will be using in events this year that are held outside of Europe as a substitute for a WRC event. This event will be Loeb's first time in the U.S. as the car couldn't make it to Germany this year due to some minor problems. This is the first chance in quite some time to see what the Lotus can do outside of Europe and it has a bit of a different type of track, as Loeb will be taking on a street course at Ares Racing. Loeb will be a few weeks overdue for his WRC event, but is here to atone in the least before the season begins in earnest. This can't be a first round playoff series and Loeb has to earn it. Loeb returns to the U.S. for the first time since the Rally California where he has a podium place so he knows what to expect from the new type of track he has entered. Loeb will be taking on the street course and could be the fastest thing on a street course ever. Ares Racing opens their doors to the general public on both Saturday and Sunday, so both days have over 20,000 people on the street depending on the time of day. The garage area in the center is open to the public for free, but car owners are expected to put up a gate for spectators. The owner of the car is hosting a private tour this weekend and the owner also is auctioning it off for charity after a day. The driver of the car is up for auction and for $5,000. The one thing that is required is that people sign the bit where it says they are sure they want to bid on the car and need to sign and date it. The auctioneer is also requiring a $5 fee, which means it is available to the highest bidder, but the fee is to be
